THE ARRIVAL IN CHICAGO YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Great Locomotive Departure for the East—Her Majesty Looks Like Business—A Scheme to Raise $1,000,000 for a Freedom Monument and How It Is to Be Done—Words—London the Objective Point.

When the Burlington train came in from Denver yesterday afternoon a number of people were on hand to receive some of the passengers, for the press were enlightened enough, on the basis of certain railway complications, to suppose that Chief Justice Beasley, and, hotly searching up his family, had left the Queen of Hawaii and the several people at their mercy to speak. The out of Queen Kapiolani was the last of the long train, and the general impression was not long in dawning it, as remarked that "they can't be many." But just as the hunger a delightful surprise here appeared. It was that of Mr. Buck, Chief of Staff to Mr. Judson, Chamberlain to the King of Hawaii. The Buck name will, and is always a name to splurge about. The islands, about the Sandwich Islands, and the famous Buck Revolving Rifle, and the famous part which he took in the United States Minister at that place to the war troubles.

Buck said: "We have been out here to keep the Queen's spirits up, to amuse her, to show her the country, and to let her breathe. We have had a delightful time. We have been out to Los Angeles, where we had a reception, and to Pasadena, and to Riverside, and to Redlands, and to Santa Barbara, and to Monterey, and to a thousand other places. We have been treated royally by the United States Minister at that place to the war troubles.

AN INDECENT HURRY OVER "OVERDRAFTS" AND "FORGERIES."

How a Shorthand and the Other a Collection Form for the Same Function—How Can "Additional Substitutes" Be Compared Without Ascertaining the Primary Fact?—How Are Crooks Seen Made Payment to Luck?

CHICAGO, Ill., May 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Although I would be glad to see the number of the Cook County Judges increased, the late encroachments on the part of the last term caused considerable doubt as to the constitutionality of the bill passing at Springfield for that purpose, to which I particularly object. I wish to submit a copy of the constitutional clause which, I assume to me, demonstrates the folly of attempting to add to the number of Judges in Cook County by the enactment of the bill in question. Section 11, Article 6, of the Constitution adopted last month, and which is a different matter from the old Constitution, reads as follows:

"The circuit courts shall consist of the Judges of the Circuit Courts, and the Judges of the Superior Courts of Cook County, and the Judges of the Superior Courts of Cook County, and the Judges of the Superior Courts of Cook County

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

BRIEF SESSIONS OF BOTH HOUSES AT SPRINGFIELD.

A Measure Introduced in the Senate to Permit Suits to Levy a Library Tax—In the House the Senate Bill Aimed at Landlord Scalp Cases Up and Was Advanced to Second Reading—The Sunday-Closing Bill—Other Acts.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—The Senate read the House bill lowering legislators' fees for duty on a five days' term and referred it to the Committee on the Judicial Department. Senator Burns of Edgar introduced a bill to permit towns and villages to levy a tax of half a mill for library purposes. This was referred to the Committee on Education. The House bills making appropriations for repairs on the State House, for the Illinois trial in Lake County, and for the Soldiers' Home were read a first time and sent to the Appropriations Committee and the Senate adjourned.

THE HOUSE.

In the House this afternoon the Senate bill providing boards-of-trade may send a delegate, and Mr. Baker moved that it be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary. Mr. Barrett wanted it sent to the Committee on Corporations, and Mr. Kelly thought it ought to the Committee on Labor. Mr. Baker's idea prevailed. The bill providing for the payment of Coroner's jurors, including the State's attorney, to get their fees, and giving the certificate of the Coroner, was passed. Mr. Hamilton introduced a bill providing that the Governor may appoint three commissioners to locate a site for a new penitentiary and purchase the same, which was referred to a committee. He said that the House will be accountable for the most persons who have passed bills to locate penitentiaries and purchased the sites. The bill providing a large quantity of Illinois land for the location of 50,000 acres, for the use of the Agricultural College scholarship purposes, was passed. The bill providing for the appointment of a Commissioner of Public Buildings, to have charge of the Capitol, was referred to a committee. This question of Federal jurisdiction over a divorce case has never been raised here before.

For the same date the Secretary of the Chicago Board of Trade states the visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada as 67,000,000 bushels of wheat, 31,000,000 bushels of corn, 3,000,000 bushels of oats, 800,000 bushels of rye, and 870,000 bushels of barley. ## MR. HEALY'S AMENDMENT.

PROPOSED CHANGE IN THE FIRST CLAUSE OF THE CRIMES BILL.

It Creates a Wave Thereafter in the House of Commons—Gladstone and Salisbury with the Home Rulers — Final Action Not Taken — Later Note as to the Scientific Alibi — Rejected Tenders of Famine Digest—Cable Notes.

LONDON, May 2.—In the House of Commons tonight Mr. Healy moved that the first clause of the Crimes bill be so amended as to relieve clearly to what portions of Ireland the bill would be applicable. He suggested that the words "proclaimed districts" be omitted and that "Kerry, Londonderry, and Belfast" be inserted in their stead.

Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, declined to accede to the proposal. He said the Government resigned to carry the clause to all parts of Ireland where the provisions of crime justified such action.

Mr. Healy asked if Chief-Secretary Balfour, whose views had been clear and pronounced, was to go free, while the honorable and learned gentleman's colleagues were to be muzzled.

Mr. Balfour replied that the Government would exercise perfect impartiality in suppressing disorder everywhere.

Mr. Labouchere said the scope and aim of the bill was to crush out the Nationalists, leaving the Orangemen to do anything they liked. The administration of the law was on a par with the Orange faction that it would not be tolerated.

Mr. Chamberlain suggested that the words "proclaimed districts" remain, but that the districts be defined under the short clauses of the bill. The answer of Mr. Balfour that all districts would be treated impartially was not satisfactory, because the Attorney-General often referred to the particular parts of Ireland where the bill was proclaimed to operate. He feared the power of action vested with Dublin Castle officials, and the consequent danger of coercion in Ulster

QUIGLEY DAYS SPENDING FOR SIXLAY IN THE DOUBLE CASE.

A Motion to Quash Is a Simple Delay That Succeeds—Charges in Indictments Not Sensational Quite Public—The List of Jurors Impaneled Yesterday—Their Story that a Stenotype Young Man Was Once Scaring Them—Today's Case Before Judge Horpin.

In Judge Tuley's court yesterday morning nearly an hour and a half was taken up in impaneling a jury before the battle ships were reached. Some preliminaries were begun for Gilman but no chance to turn to tough as a thunder on the part of the State. When the morning session came Dr. Quigley was transferred last week to Judge Horpin the State gave notice that motion hearings upon Dec. 1,000 and 1,001 would be brought up before Judge Tuley. As a matter of fact, Dr. 1,000 is a counterpart case against Dan Wren instead of a bribery case, and motions to quash and for a change of venue had already been made and overruled. Accordingly when Col. Blake arose to address the court yesterday morning he made short work of 1,000 by stating in one character and assenting to the records to support his assertion. Whereat the State acknowledged the corn, and attention was transferred to 1,001, in which "Jack" McCarthy is charged with assisting a bribe of $100 from Thomas Byrnes to a police commissioner, L. G. Hesing and C. H. Wacker agreed, with Col. Blake, for the defendant. The State filed a motion to quash, and made argument that there was a misjoinder of counts that an improper information had been made in putting in a count not present to the Supreme, and that there was no proper allegation of venue. Counsel for the State replied briefly. The court overruled all the points of the indictment. Then the motion to quash was overruled. Then the court said it would hear the motion to quash the indictment. Then the court said it would hear the motion to quash the indictment. Then the court said it would hear the motion to quash the indictment

Certified Extracts from the report of Hon. E. Miall, Commissioner, and Professor William Saunders, F. R. S. C, Public Analyst, Inland Revenue Department, Ottawa, Canada, pages 4, 20, 21:

"Eight samples of baking powder have been analyzed; six were found to be adulterated, the proportion of adulterant varying from 20 to 60 per cent. The other two consisted of a mixture of bicarbonate of soda and pure cream of tartar without any adulterant."

"Royal. Result of analysis: contains cream of tartar, carbonate of soda; pure."

"Price's. Result of analysis: contains matter insoluble in water 24.16 per cent., consisting of starch and tartrate of lime; adulterated."

JUDGES THE WRONG CLAIR.

How a Dress Little Woman Defended Her Own Home.

A lively tale of claim-jumping comes to us, says the Leavenworth (Kan.) Times, from Imperial the Providence country, many miles southwest of Cowley. The movers are Miss Minnie Palmer, a bright young lady of 22 happy years, from Harlowton, Kan. Find a contiguous claim of 160 acres of fine Government land near the Burlington & Missouri in the eastern part of the State. The claimant secured a comfortable one-story frame house, [illegible] and [illegible] Green, and there [illegible] Miss Palmer and Miss Green [illegible] to perfect a neighborly but business-like partnership and they went to spring crops, etc. During the absence of Miss Green on a visit to her old home a man named Clair appeared on the land and [illegible] to become a valuable property.

Last week Miss Minnie returned to her claim to find the house occupied by a big swaggering Nebraskan, who informed her that he had jumped the claim and intended to hold it. Miss Palmer, who is a little body, but [illegible] and has an eye of a character suited to modern times, and, with the exception of a few rude and cold looks, which may wish to buy them at auctions, the people who have money enough to purchase will care less for the purely historical associations than for the actual money value of the ponies. The sale will then be broken up forthwith, and the ponies returned to San Francisco.

A correspondent of the New York Sun, writing from Paris, says that according to expert opinion these ponies are more interesting from the historical than from the commercial point of view; indeed, their history is full of curious details and reminiscences of celebrities. The collection of the French crown ponies dates from the time when François I. made peace with Charles V., whose sister, Eleonore of Austria, became the wife of the French King. François I. went to Guinnes to meet his bride, and at that town, on June 15, 1530, he bequeathed the royal ponies (with [illegible]) to his successors (that is to say, to the state or to the crown). In that time these ponies consisted of a large number, but on the night, and were valued at 2,000 crowns. The precious steeds comprising the crown ponies from Queen Anne of Brittany, who received them by Marguerite de Foix. One of these ponies was christened by the queen's name, and was [illegible] Anne de Bretagne. Another pony was presented to Henri II. by Diane de Poitiers, and was called Diane. Another was given to Henri III. by Marie de Medicis, and was called Marie. Another was presented to Louis XIII. by Anne of Austria, and was called Anne. Another was given to Louis XIV. by Mazarin, and was called Mazarin. Another was presented to Louis XV. by Madame de Pompadour, and was called Pompadour. Another was given to Louis XVI. by Marie Antoinette, and was called Antoinette. Another was presented to Napoleon I. by Josephine, and was called Josephine. Another was given to Louis XVIII. by the Duchesse d'Angoulême, and was called Angoulême. Another was given to Charles X. by the Duchesse de Berry, and was called Berry. Another was presented to Louis Philippe by Queen Victoria, and was called Victoria. Another was given to Napoleon III. by Queen Victoria, and was called Victoria. Another was presented to Napoleon III. by the Empress Eugénie, and was called Eugénie. Another was given to Napoleon III. by the Empress Eugénie, and was called Eugénie

THE CUTTING OF RECORDS.

THE EVOLUTION OF THE FAST AND OF THE FASTEST.

Continued Improvement of All Competitive Records—The Quickest Horses in Daily Every Class of Athletic Exercise to Be Seen to Superior Advantage at the Conclusion of Englewood's Festival, by Events, Not Mark to Be Hit.

The Fastest Century. The most remarkable thing with regard to attainment of all descriptions at the present time is the almost constant overpassing of former achievements, or, as it is technically called, "the cutting of records."

Every "record" here been registered and, technical exactitude is but seldom aimed at, was only likely, that every new feat would have been able to accomplish more than has been before in the particular line of sport. Fortunately for the interest of sport, however, but few records have been more completely for the moment than "records" which have been "cut." With each new cutting of a record, and there is scarcely a single branch of athletics in which one or more have not been registered. This has been to every description of contest, and has served considerably to the entertainment of those who have seen the performances, which they have come to the latter of thinking somewhat the impressions, record of sport and sport.

Does this indicate that the men of the present day are vastly superior to physical power to those of the past?

Taking the matter just first into consideration, I should say that to the majority of cases it certainly does not, the increased record of their exertions being to a great measure due to the improvements of the facilities they use.

As matter to what branch of athletics one looks, with a single exception to which I will refer later on, the most increase in the pace is found as that described in bicycling. In running at nearly every distance from a "quarter" (now recently "cut") the mile, with several intervening, which the

How to this to be accounted for? Training, no doubt, has something to do with it.
